To report patient-reported outcomes and physician-reported outcomes of peripheral nerve involvement in systemic lupus erythematosus (SLE) and to explore the correlation of patient-reported and physician-reported outcomes. Consecutive patients with SLE were prospectively enrolled from March 2012 to December 2012. Patients and physicians completed the Neuropathic Pain Scale (NPS). A post hoc analysis of NPS total score was conducted. A total of 91 patients and 24 physicians participated in this study. NPS total scores of the patients were significantly correlated with the physician's estimation of the disease activity (p = 0.568; P Q: Fetch one record at a time from database I have to fetch one row of data into a procedure.
