The entire game takes place in between a zombie apocalypse. You are a survivor on the run. Your goal is to make it to the end of the game, with the highest score possible. This game is a shooter game, using the first person VR experience. You will be using weapons that you have acquired to fight zombies and other humans. The zombies will appear in three locations: at the security door, at the exit door, and from inside the house. The players start the game on their own level. If a zombies are in sight, the players will be marked in the zombie map, as marked in a turn. When the target appears, the selected zombie will jump and attack. In the game, a precision shoot-targeting game is performed. To switch between the target and current player, use the right stick to scroll your target. If the target touches the current player, then the current player dies. However, the zombie did not die and continues to attack, until the player delivers a kill shot. The player will always get the maximum score possible for the current mission. Software Defined Radio (SDR) Demos Audio4Fun Lop Nor Zombie VR (HTC Vive) Pickin' Networks As promised yesterday, we had prepared some programs to share with you. You can read them all in our blog post. Today, we will cover HTC Vive demos and actually leave the Youtube sources to our colleagues... As you can see, we are almost done! There are only three more demos to show and hopefully tomorrow you can feel the joy when we are releasing them. So, will you join the fun and give it a try? Enjoy the content.

HTC VR - Village of the Damned (Demo 1) The demo's name was already announced yesterday. It's a prequel to Doom 3, and in case of no shock, it's not a very good demo. But it's also one of the first and slowest demos in which you get to play around a huge map. Soon we will move to a very good experience, but by considering the time to show it in the Vive section, I think it's ok. You can judge for yourself.

Camera's View Tight Spaces VR - The Village of the Damned (Demo 2) The next demo is very fun and offers a great experience. It takes place after the events of the first demo, but in a different story. This time you are already inside a village, but instead of trying to survive on your own, you are accompanied by a "protector". From the beginning, you are able to use your Pistol for some nice sights and some health bars. Then, all the new features start to come up: teleports, objects, a mechanic, a door... Touching the shield on the backside of the room, a door will open in front of you and you can interact with a "concierge". It will answer your questions, give you some information... And more... So far, it's a really nice and interesting demo. You can ask anything you want and the concierge will answer. There are some subtle details, like "Teleport to" and "Return to" and some cool ways to interact with the environment. Vive Focus - Village of the Damned (Demo 3) The third demo is also
